The General Manager of FGU shall not be authorized to enter into a Financial Product on a system-wide basis for CGS without a Directive from the City Representative. Financial Products shall be purchased or otherwise acquired for the purpose of risk management and, to the extent possible, shall be entered into in such a manner as to meet applicable accounting standards as a "hedge" for accounting purposes; provided that the failure to obtain any particular accounting treatment with respect to a Financial Product shall not form a basis for challenging or otherwise calling into question the legality and enforceability of a Financial Product entered into pursuant to a Directive. CGS shall not engage in any purchase or acquisition of Financial Products for Speculation. In the event if any inconsistency between the terms of this Policy and any existing agreement between FGU and CGS, including, without limitation, the All Requirements Gas Services Agreement, dated as of February 15, 2002 and as amended from time to time, between FGU and CGS and entered into pursuant to Resolution 02-02 the City of Clearwater, Florida, the terms of such agreement shall prevail. In above policy, these terms are defined as: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Enterprise Fund Transfer Payment. It is a policy of the City Council that the specific enterprise operations designated by the City Council shall annually transfer to the General Fund an amount determined appropriate to be considered reimbursement in lieu of taxes. The current rate is 5.5% of prior year gross revenues. April 1989 policy adopted by councilmembers established this rate at 4.5% of prior-year gross revenues. This proportionate rate was adopted to accommodate growth and replaced prior years' policy of a prescribed dollar contribution. Other than the exceptions noted below, the rate of 4.5% remained in effect until the City Council adopted the amended rate of 5.5% in September 2005. Upon adoption of the Gas Strategic Plan in fiscal year 1995/96, the Council agreed to replace the Gas Support contribution with a franchise fee from natural gas customer accounts payable to the General Fund. This, in combination with the Gas dividend, offered the General Fund the same level of support as fiscal year 1995/96. The Gas System Dividend will be 50% of the Gas System Net Income less Bond Interest Earnings, but no less than a $1,700,000, plus a PILOT (Payment in Lieu of Taxes) fee of at least $508,720. General Fund Unappropriated Retained Earnings. Beginning in fiscal year 2001, the City Council approved an adjustment to the Gas Fund charge increasing the charge by $325,000 over the computed amount to bring the Gas Fund more in line with the proportionate amount calculated in the same manner as the Other Enterprise Funds.	2-14 cont'd

All other investment objectives are secondary to the safety of capital. Each investment transaction shall seek to first ensure that capital losses are avoided. B. To accomplish this the portfolio will be "laddered" with monthly maturities except for those months in which significant Ad Valorem taxes are received. To the extent possible, the City will match its investments with anticipated cash flow requirements. Unless matched to a specific cash flow requirement, the City will not directly invest in securities maturing more than 15 years from the date of purchase. Also, unless specifically matched against a debt or obligation not more than 15% of the portfolio will have a maturity greater than 10 years. C. The City's investment portfolio shall be designed with the objective of attaining a market rate of return throughout budgetary and economic cycles, taking into account the City's investment risk constraints and the cash flow characteristics of the portfolio. 3. Performance Measurement The benchmark yield for the operating portfolio will be the weighted average yield determined by using the following maturity distribution and the related U.S. Treasury yields. Treasury yields are considered the benchmark for riskless investment transactions and, therefore comprise a minimum standard for the operating portfolio's rate of return.	2-16

The investment program shall seek to augment returns above this threshold, consistent with risk limitations identified herein.

Taxation of Fringe Benefits Provided to City Employees, Former Employees, and Elected Officials. It is a policy of the City Council to report to the Internal Revenue Service, and to withhold appropriate taxes relating to, benefits provided to employees that are in the nature of compensation. The following guidance is provided by to assist City employees and departments in understanding the tax treatment of various fringe benefits, as well as the reporting and withholding rules that the City must follow as the employer. The City cannot give personal tax advice. For specific concerns/questions relative to an individual tax situation, employees should consult their personal tax accountant or advisor.	5-9

Guidance:

In general, a fringe benefit is any property or service that an employee (including certain independent contractors) receives in lieu of, or in addition to, regular compensation. Fringe benefits can take many forms and this policy does not address whether or not a City employee is eligible to receive a particular fringe benefit. Examples of fringe benefits include (but are not limited to) such items as gift certificates, tickets to sporting, theater, or recreational events, certain club memberships, spouse/companion travel, automobiles, housing, meals, awards or prizes.

References herein to the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) and Treasury Regulations (Reg.) are provided, along with other IRS guidance that may be helpful. However, the guidance is not intended to be all-inclusive. For new or unique situations, please contact [the Human Resources Office] to ensure that the appropriate tax treatment is applied. It is the employee's responsibility to determine his or her obligation to report and pay income taxes.

General Rule Generally, all fringe benefits are taxable, unless excluded by law. For a fringe benefit to be taxable, it need not be furnished directly to the employee by the City, as long as the benefit is provided in connection with the performance of services for the City. A fringe benefit may be taxable to a person even though the person did not actually receive it. Similarly, a fringe benefit that is not provided directly by the City, but by a third party will be subject to tax reporting by the City if the benefit was compensatory in nature or was provided through an arrangement with the City. For example, tickets provided directly by a third party through an arrangement with the City are considered compensation provided by the City.

Amount of Income The amount of income that is taxable to the employee as a fringe benefit is its fair market value (FMV), rather than the cost to the City or the relative value to the employee. The FMV is the amount an individual would have to pay a third party in an arm's-length transaction to buy or lease the benefit.

Tax Withholding and Reporting Taxable fringe benefits for employees will be reported as taxable wages on IRS Form W-2. Most taxable fringe benefits are subject to federal income tax withholding, as well as social security and Medicare taxes. The tax withholding on fringe benefits may be spread over multiple pay periods during the tax year. Benefits provided in the last two months of the year, may have taxation carried into the following year. Taxable fringe benefits for non-employee independent contractors are not subject to tax withholding, but may be reportable on IRS Form 1099-MISC.

Compliance with Information Requests Due to the many types and methods of providing fringe benefits, an important aspect of tax compliance is the tracking of fringe benefits as they occur. Specific processes may apply to certain fringe benefits, as discussed separately. Employees are expected to comply with any procedures or requests for information with respect to the benefit being provided.

Exclusions from Taxation

Not all fringe benefits are taxable or not taxable in all circumstances. Often, the nature of the activity, the specific use of the benefit, and the role of the individual employee determine whether a benefit is taxable or not taxable in a specific situation. IRC § 132 provides four general provisions that may apply to exclude fringe benefits from taxation. See below for a brief description of each.

Working Condition Fringe Benefit Exclusion – IRC § 132(d); Reg. § 1.132-5

Working condition fringe benefits are generally defined as any property or services provided by the City that, if paid by the employee directly, would be deductible as a trade or business expense under IRC §§ 162 or 167. Thus, if the employee were being asked to attend or expected to attend an event relevant to his or her role with the City or purchase an item that would otherwise constitute an ordinary and necessary business expense relating to their position with the City, then the benefit may be considered a working condition fringe benefit. This answer may differ based on the role of the employee with the City. The value of a working condition fringe benefit is excludable from an employee's income.

To be excludable as a working condition fringe benefit, all of the following must apply:

- the benefit must relate to the employer's business,
- the employee would have been entitled to an income tax deduction if expense had been paid personally, and
- the business use must be substantiated with records.

For purposes of the working condition fringe benefit exclusion, the following are considered "employees": Reg. § 1.132-1(b)(2) and § 1.132-5(r)

- Current employees
- Independent contractors
- Volunteers

De Minimis Fringe Exclusion – IRC § 132(e); Reg. § 1.132-6

A fringe benefit qualifies for exclusion as a de minimis (minimal) fringe benefit if value and frequency with which the benefit is provided are low enough such that accounting for the benefit is unreasonable or administratively impractical. The conceptual basis of the de minimis exclusion is not only that the benefit is small, but that it is administratively impractical to track. This is why cash or cash equivalents (e.g., MotivateMe redemption gift cards) of any amount are never considered a de minimis fringe benefit.

Reg. § 1.132-6 provides the following examples of items that may be excludable as de minimis, if they are infrequent and not routine, include:

- occasional coffee, soft drinks and snack items furnished to employees
- occasional parties, group meals, or picnics for employees and their guests
- occasional theater or sporting event tickets (not season tickets)
- traditional holiday gifts of property (not cash) with a low fair market value
- flowers, fruit, books, or similar items provided under special circumstances

Reg. § 1.132-6 provides the following examples of fringe benefits that are not excludable as de minimis:

- season tickets to sporting or theatrical events
- commuting use of an employer-provided automobile more than one day a month
- membership in a private country club
- use of employer-owned or leased facilities (such as an apartment, hunting lodge, boat, etc.) for a weekend

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Cash or cash equivalents (gift certificates, gift cards, etc.) do NOT qualify as de minimis, no matter how small the amount. For purposes of the de minimis exclusion, the term “employee” means any recipient of a fringe benefit. Reg. §1.132-1(b)(4) No-Additional-Cost Service Exclusion – IRC §132(b); Reg. §1.132-2 A free or reduced charge service provided to employees is excludable from income as a no-additional-cost service if: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • the service is offered for sale to customers in the ordinary course of the City’s business, and • the City does not incur substantial additional expense, including foregone revenue, in providing the service to the employee. This means that the service is being provided at an excess capacity, and the use by an employee does not displace other customers. For purposes of the no-additional-cost services exclusion, the term “employee” includes the following: Reg. §1.132-1(b)(1) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • a current employee • the employee’s spouse • the employee’s dependent child • a former employee who retired or left on disability • a widow(er) of an individual who died while employed No-additional-cost benefits made available only to highly compensated employees are not excludable. Reg. §1.132-8 Qualified Employee Discount Exclusion – IRC §132(c); Reg. §1.132-3 An employee is not required to include in gross income any qualified discount received from the City on property or services that the City offers for sale to customers in the ordinary course of business, as long as the discount does not exceed: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • In the case of services, 20% of the price at which a service is offered to customers • In the case of property, the gross profit percentage multiplied by the price at which property is offered to customers in the ordinary course of business. This means that the property can’t be discounted below cost. Any excess discount would be treated as taxable income. For purposes of the qualified employee discount exclusion, the term “employee” includes the following: Reg. §1.132-1(b)(1) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • a current employee • the employee’s spouse • the employee’s dependent child • a former employee who retired or left on disability • a widow(er) of an individual who died while employed

To qualify for exclusion, the discount must not discriminate in favor of highly compensated employees. Reg. §1.132-3(a)(6)

Whether, given such a development or redevelopment plan, it would be impractical to take the compliance action directed by the City Council. 7. Whether payment would hinder a proposed sale of the property. 8. Whether a waiver or reduction of lien would facilitate acquisition of the property for the purpose of creating or preserving affordable housing units. 9. Whether an appraisal of the property, submitted by the applicant, demonstrates to the City that the cost of the lien has been absorbed. 10. The amount of a lien will not be reduced below the amount representing administrative costs incurred by the city regarding the case.
